

Mutual Injunctions (please select all that apply)

Mom and Dad are enjoined, until further Court order, from any of the following acts:

- Disturb the peace of their child or the other parent.
- Hide their child from the other parent or changing the child's current place of abode.
- Remove their child beyond the jurisdiction of the Court, acting directly or in concert with others for the purpose of changing the residence of the child or evading the jurisdiction of the court.
- Disrupt or withdraw their child from the daycare facility and/or or school where their child is presently enrolled.
- Initiate any discussions with their child concerning any aspect of this litigation or any future litigation.
- Make disparaging remarks about the other parent, the current spouse of the other parent, or other family members of the other parent in the presence of their child or on any social media platform.
- Allow their child to remain in the presence of any other person making disparaging remarks about the other parent, the current spouse of the other parent, or any family members of the other parent.
- Discuss any aspect of this lawsuit or any future litigation with others in the presence of the child or on any social media platform.
- Using the child and/or their belongings as a messenger for messages between the parents.
- Allow any person other than the other parent to discipline the child.
- No cursing in front of the child.
- Consume alcohol and/or any mind-altering medication not prescribed by a medical professional while in possession of the child or 8 hours prior to the parent's possession period with the child.
- Using prescription drugs other than as prescribed by a treating physician.
- Allow any person with whom the parent is in a romantic or dating relationship to remain in the home while the child is present between the hours of midnight and 6 am.
- Communicate with the other parent by telephone, text, email, writing, or any other means of communication using vulgar, profane, obscene, or indecent language, or in a coarse or offensive manner.
- Communicate the other parent at unreasonable hours and/or repetitively without a legitimate purpose.
- Threaten or cause bodily injury to the other parent or to their child.
- Threaten the other parent to take unlawful action against the other parent or parent's family.
- Destroy, remove, conceal, or otherwise harm or damage any property in the possession of the other parent and/or their child.
- Removing or hiding a child's pet.
- Open or divert mail addressed to the other parent or their child.
- Putting spyware on the child's cell phone, computer, or any electronic device the child takes to the other parent's home unless both parents agree in writing to the parental spyware.
